Other Notes of Interest

Bylaw Changes

After a ratified change in the Constitution and Bylaws, a letter needs to be sent to the IRS if there are significant changes. A letter because we file the 990-N annual electronic post card reporting form. By significant, the IRS is concerned with how the board of directors is formed and who gets to vote. They are not concerned with minor changes such as maintaining a club library or not. The state of Arizona does not need to be notified. The articles of incorporation do not need to be amended either.

Enclose a summary of the changes made along with either a copy of the bylaws if they have been rewritten or just the stricken or added sections if they have only been slightly modified. The name of the club, its EIN, and its mailing address should be included. An executive officer (president or treasurer for example) needs to write the letter and sign it with their name.
